Tension Mounts As Reds Continue Missile Buildup In Cuba; Invasion Hinted

MOSCOW (AP)-Premier Khrushchev told President Kennedy in a message today he would withdraw offensive weapons from Cuba if the United States withdraws its rockets from Turkey.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House reported today that President Kennedy has received another message from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Krushchev but declined comment on it for the present.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy received a letter from Khrushchev late Friday night.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)-Diplomats today welcomed the brief respite in the Cuban crisis provided by the Soviet pledge to keep Russian ships out of blockade waters for a time. But there was scant optimism as feverish talks sped on behind the U.N. scenes.

The diplomats were gravely concerned by the U.N. announcement that the Russians are continuing rapid development of their Cuban missile sites and the warning that the United States might take further action. PLAN FURTHER ACTION

The U.S. government is trying to make clear to Russia and the world that, unless this issue is resolved, "further action will be justified"-as President Kennedy said in his speech Monday night announcing the arms blockade order.

In a new exchange of messages with Acting Secretary-General U Thant, Premier Khrushchev agreed to keep all Russian vessels out of the interception area set up under the U.S. arms quarantine. And President Kennedy said U.S. warships would do their best to avoid a confrontation.

Both Kennedy and Khrushchev insisted, however, such a freeze must be limited to a short interval while U Thant pushes his efforts at a peaceful settlement. LOSE OPTIMISM

Letter To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR OF THE GETTYSBURG TIMES

To the undersigned, the forthcoming election is a very serious affair. Statistics from the Bureaucrats of the State of Pennsylvania have separated its population into two camps; "rural" and "urban," with 55% to the latter. By rural is meant every dweller in this state not dwelling in a large city.

Purpose of the division is to provide a basis for the assertion that the "rural" area, with a smaller percentage of the people, dominates the state legislature and to secure sup-port at the polls for the Democratic Party, which has in every way proclaimed its bias in favor of the city voter.

This policy of turning brother against brother for the sake of political overlordship is a comparatively recent innovation which supersedes the timehonored American principle that "all men are created equal." It is a very disintergrating principle and one that is fraught with potential dis-

In order to combat the extension of so mischievous a blow to the unity and tranquillity of Pennsylvanians, we are convinced that the election of candidate for governor, William W. Scranton is an essential step toward restoring a situation of justice and amity to city and country dweller

Scranton has pledged his faith to be a governor of ALL the people; whereas Dilworth has spent practically every moment of his campaign in the large cities, promising the voters all sorts of benefits, to be largely paid for by the people of the rural districts.

There is no recourse for rural citizens, Republican and Democrat alike, but to work for and vote for the election of Scrantion and Van Zandt and to that end we announce our association into a League of Rural Voters for Bill Scranton and Jimmy Van Zandt.

Respectfully,

It Newport was the first time this season the Susquenita Warriors failed to score.

Extremely cold weather may have kept the fans away, but it didn't cool off 165-pound junior halfback Bob Drawbaugh. The Bulldog speedster rolled up 133 yards rushing on 18 carries and scored one TD.

While Young had his problems with the visiting halfbacks, he also encountered 'njuries, which may have had some bearing on the outcome. Jim Newman sustained an injury earlier in the week and did not see any action Friday. To make things worse, Senior end Bob Beeler was removed from the game in the first quarter due to a knee injury and was out the remainder of the contest. From a preliminary report, Beeler is expected to be ready by next week.

Her parents had moved to Hollywood from Texas when she had slipped into her early 20's and she joined them on the coast. Through friends she was introduced to Clarence Green and Russell Rouse, the creators of the TV series, "Tightrope." and they persuaded her to attend the evening drama classes they were conducting in Hollywood.

PREFERRED STAGE

"All at once I wanted to be an actress again," Pat smiled. "The ambition had never really died in me, but because of my parents I had kept it hidden. Now I told my folks I really wanted to act. They thought about it for a few days and then gave me their blessing."

Pat started getting roles in several TV series - but was never really happy with these assignments because "the emphasis was not always on acting, but on sex appeal.'

Pat heard that the producers of "The Rifleman" were looking for a girl, preferably with an Irish background, to portray "Lou Mallory." It was also stressed that the girl should be more than just a fine actress, that she should also be no stranger to horses and guns.

WAS TAILOR-MADE

Being qualified on all counts, Pat went to the Four Star studios to try out for the role. Up until her appearance big Chuck Connors had his problems. It seemed that the right girl to play "Lou" wasn't on this planet.

"We talked to some 300 girls in all," Chuck explained later. "All types, all shapes, all sizes. Some couldn't act their way out of a paper bag. Others were excellent actresses, but lacked the authentic western-type we were looking for. After we tested Pat, I knew we had our girl. She was tailor-made for the part all the way down the line.'

Pat explained her role of "Lou" was a "demanding one" and a

MEET THE PRESS

"For many years, 'Meet the Press' has been a feature which have viewed with great regularity every Sunday.

"I think it is valuable to permit the nation to have an opporunity to see public figures under questioning from the Press, as it gives our people an opportunity to assay their leaders that they cannot receive through any other news media.

This comment came from Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson congratulating Lawrence E. Spivak, producer of "Meet the Press." On Sunday, November 11, program's 15th anniversary, the the Hon. James A, Farley will be guest Mr Farley former postmaster general and an outstanding Democratic leader for many years, appeared on the very first televised 'Meet the Press' November 5, 1947.

Dr. Billy Graham has this to say about "Meet the Press": 'You nave nelped not only to keep America informed, but you have helped the American people make some of the gravest decisions of history during this continual postwar crisis.
